Are you in a business where you are embedding coaching capabilities; or a professional coach training organisation; or perhaps a coach and interested in pursuing excellence in coaching?

Then join us for a master class "Coaching: A Mandatory Skill for 21st Century Leaders".

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

In this content rich seminar will be led by Sir John Whitmore, Executive Chairman of Performance consultants International. The event will take the form of a Master-class and will feature a demonstration of coaching.

Studies show that the real answers to achieving and sustaining high performance lies inside people. Coaching is the interactive process that unlocks this potential, enabling people to find the resources within to address the challenges they face. It helps people find from within themselves 'how to do' solutions, it does not impose 'what to do' solutions from without.

Finding the 'how' is the key to the real performance, a performance that is achieved through the engagement and alignment of the whole person at work. As such the workplace has the opportunity to be a forum for personal growth, development & fulfilment.

However, Sir John's proposition is that coaching is much bigger than coaching. The word 'coaching' can sometimes be limiting because people have a perception of what coaching is based on past experience. In fact, coaching models the attitudes and behaviour of the next level of psycho-spiritual evolution that is emerging in many parts of the world.

The greater self-awareness and greater self-responsibility that it builds contributes not only to employee growth and development, but also to the future of our society, culture and planet.

During this content rich and thought provoking Masterclass, we will explore coaching and why it is the building block for the next evolution of leadership in organisations.

Sir John will be accompanied by Patrick Murphy, a member of the International Advisory Board of Performance Consultants International and Chairman of Performance Consultants Ireland.
